

Supporting the teaching of Christianity and SMSC in Newham's schools: Key Stage 3-4

Key Stage Four
Unit title	Faith in School (FIS) offer:
Is death the end? Does it matter?	What do Christians believe about life after death?            Together with Christian volunteers; we lead a lesson in which pupils develop an understanding of Christian perspectives on life after death. They will explore the ideas of salvation and forgiveness and think through how Christians' beliefs about life after death impact on their daily lives
Crime and punishment	What does the Bible say about crime and punishment and how does that affect the lives and choices of Christians today?            We lead a session that examines different Christian responses to crime, its prevention and punishment. Children will have the opportunity to then ask question of volunteers involved with crime and punishment projects.
	Christian panel            We can arrange a panel of Christian visitors with a variety of views on ethical issues to help students develop their biblical interpretation and inference skills and provide primary evidence for exams.

Faith in Schools brings Christians into Newham's secondary schools to deliver high-quality RE lessons on Christianity and takes pupils into the community to see Christians put their faith into action. Pupils are able to meet a variety of Christians from different backgrounds and church denominations and find out what it means to be a Christian in Newham today.

Quote from students at SSA:

"We were so inspired by the people you allowed us to meet yesterday. We seriously feel that they have changed our lives for the better. Thank you for giving us this amazing opportunity. We hope to meet you again"

Faith in Schools can also provide details of local projects to visit as part of PSHE and Citizenship.

Examples include:

- Food banks
- Groups working with young people or children
- Help with furniture
- Support groups
- Groups working with issues surrounding relationships and sex

Faith in Schools has been working in Newham's schools since 2003. All lessons are seen and evaluated by Newham's RE advisor. All the teachers are police checked, and our lessons are free!

We aim to help schools promote Fundamental British Values by giving pupils the opportunity to see and explore contemporary issues through the lens of tolerance and mutual respect.

Key Stage Three
Unit title	Faith in Schools (FIS) offer:
Church and Community	Church visit (Lesson 1) We can help arrange visits to local churches. Pupils will have the opportunity to explore the building, its artefacts and symbols. We also offer an option to visit two different kinds of churches to enable pupils to make comparisons. The significance of Church and community (Lesson 2) We can provide a follow up lesson in which pupils consider the importance of church buildings for Christians and explore the role of Church in the lives of Christians.
Easter	Easter We explore the symbols that represent Easter and their meanings. Pupils will also learn about the events during Holy Week and consider the significance of the Easter story for Christians. Exploring the concepts of salvation, redemption and resurrection.
Christmas	Christmas We look at why Christians celebrate Christmas and explore the themes of advent and incarnation. Pupils are then given an opportunity to think through issues in their community. How could the Christian message of love and hope influence these issues? Asking pupils to consider what their own views are on celebrating festivals?*
Radical Jesus	Jesus – prophet, madman or savior? Pupils are given the opportunity to explore what Christians and some other religions say about Jesus.

Does religion help people to be good (A set of four lessons including a visit to a local project)	Christian views; from Sacred texts, on poverty (lesson 1) Pupils are given the chance to explore passages from the Bible through games. They are then given the opportunity to explore their own thoughts and statistics surrounding poverty. This is followed up by case studies looking at Christian responses to the Sacred texts. Homework provided
	What does the Bible say about poverty and how does this affect how Christians live their lives? (Lesson 2) We look at different organisations and individuals and their response to poverty. Pupils compare at least 5 examples, judging if they are good illustrations or not. We look at the impact this can have on law making and society. Pupils are then given the opportunity to be speculative of a Christian response to poverty based on a sacred text. Homework provided
	Visit to a local charity, organisation or project (lesson 3) We arrange 40 minute visits to local projects set up or run by Christian visitors. Visitors will share some different ways they put their faith into action in our local community. Homework provided
	How could we put our beliefs into action in Newham? (lesson 4) Pupils attend a “pretend” community meeting where they take on the role of different local residents and have to debate what happens to a local fund raised to tackle poverty. Pupils will then write a letter to fictional churches; drawing on their research and learning, telling them how they feel the money should be spent to help alleviate poverty or its effects in the community.
What forces affect our perceptions of Image and Identity	Religion, the media and self-image. We explore the concepts of image and identity, the role religion and the media often plays in influencing both and how they inform the view we have of others and ourselves.  We think about how we can recognize, value and respect the differences in others identity. (There may be the possibility of visiting a Christian based fashion project or Christian visitors involved in fashion, complementary therapies and the media visiting pupils).
